BREPOLS 📖 PUBLISHERS

Brepols publishes advanced online applications in the field of humanities powered by modern software. Brepols has a global customer base, comprising specialist libraries, academic institutions and individuals. Brepols is seeking a

Developer (M/F)
to join the IT-team at Brepols Publishing Services EPE
(Thessaloniki, Greece)

In collaboration with our analysts (based in Belgium) you will develop and support state-of-the-art, data-driven applications to support our processes and publications.

You are responsible for:

- coding, enhancing, debugging and testing new and existing web-based applications
- finding creative, powerful algorithms that store, process, index, enhance, convert, … publishing data and metadata to support back-end systems
- supporting an enthusiastic team of publishing managers and analysts, with diverse skills, that are working to build the best possible tools for our internal and external customers.

Your Profile:

- well versed in Computer Sciences, IT-professional in heart and soul
- experienced in ASP.NET, WinForms, C# and the .NET framework (or Java developer willing to switch)
- knowledge of SQL, XML, CSS and web APIs;
- XSL, JavaScript experience is a plus
- analytic mind capable of adapting to multiple user environments and an affinity for the integration of databases and applications
- interest in AI, Machine Learning and/or NLP is welcomed
- a passion for development and Internet technologies, but with an interest in history, languages, …
- good communication skills
- proficiency in English is a must; other languages are a plus
- flexible, ready for self-study, diligent team player with the skills to work individually and to finish projects autonomously

Brepols Publishing Services EPE offers you a challenging job in a unique international environment at the crossroads of culture, science and technology in the heart of Thessaloniki.

Should you want to apply for this position, please send your application letter and Curriculum Vitae (in English) before February 5th 2020 to Mr. Paschalis Tsomakas, Administrator, Brepols Publishing Services EPE, Ermou 55, 54623 Thessaloniki, Greece (Paschalis.tsomakas@brepols.net).